Palliative Care

Care Focus

Palliative care focuses on pain relief and treating symptoms of a serious illness.

Palliative care can also help patients manage medical treatments and symptoms related to an illness or treatment.

Is Palliative The Right Choice?

Palliative care could be the right choice if you are still pursuing curative treatments and would like help with pain and symptom management, as well as support in finding the right community resources to help you on your journey.

Providing Care In 9 Illinois Counties

Serenity provides care in Boone, Carroll, DeKalb, Lee, Ogle, Stephenson, Whiteside, Winnebago, and Bureau (towns of Walnut and Ohio).

Palliative Care Is Different

Palliative care differs from hospice care because the patient receiving palliative care may pursue curative treatments.

Qualifications

A person may receive palliative care regardless of life expectancy, whereas a hospice patient must have a terminal diagnosis and a life expectancy of less than six months.

Support

Palliative care is supportive in nature; it can also be referred to as supportive care and viewed as another layer of assistance for your well-being.
